GOP Aims To Embroil Dems More Mahoney, Carlino Lambaste Platform

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Republicans, gathering in harmony here to renominate the Rockefeller team and endorse its record, fired a salvo toward Syracuse today in hope of adding to the turmoil in Democratic ranks.

While delegates poured into the city to join Gov. Rockefeller and other early arrivals for the convention opening Tuesday, two GOP spokesmen unleashed a broadside attack on the Democratic campaign platform.

Give Tax Views

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino and Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney charged that if the Democratic platform promises were kept, New York taxpayers would have to pay $2,235,000,000 in higher taxes during the next four years.

To provide this amount of revenue, they said, there would have to be—for example—a 50 per cent increase in the state income tax, or a 2.4 per cent statewide sales tax.

The Mahoney-Carlino attack thus launched the Republican campaign against the Democrats—opening their convention today in Syracuse—before the GOP had nominated its own candidates.

Just Formality

Actual nominations were regarded as a formality, however, since the ticket was all set with Rockefeller, three other incumbents and two newcomers selected last week by party leaders.

Rockefeller flew into the convention city Sunday with two of his running mates, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson and U.S. Senator Jacob K. Javits, and was greeted by a third, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

The two open spots on the ticket are earmarked for Monticello County Judge John P. Lomenzo, tapped to run for comptroller, and Marcus G. Christ, an Appellate Division justice from Nassau County, who will run for judge of the Court of Appeals.

Shortly before Rockefeller arrived, party leaders unveiled the GOP campaign platform—a compact, 2,000-word document, half of which was devoted to praise of the Rockefeller record, and the other half promising more of the same for a second term.

Pre-convention activity also picked up sharply with the governor's arrival.

Advices Against Oral Polio Shots, Namely Type III

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Health Department, following a recommendation of the U.S. Public Health Service, advises that the use of oral polio vaccine, particularly Type III, be suspended, pending further study.

A department spokesman said a final decision on use of the Sabin vaccine would be made after a study of a report from the U.S. surgeon general.

The report contains all data on 11 confirmed cases of polio, including one in New York State, that have developed in the country after the Type III vaccine was administered, the spokesman said.

About 500,000 persons have received the vaccine in the state. Meanwhile, health officials in Chemung County said they would go ahead with plans for a mass immunization program for adults on Nov. 18. They said that, since their county-wide program would not be held for two months, questions on the safety of the vaccine should be clarified by that time.

They said they would cancel the program if there appeared to be any danger from the vaccine.

In Batavia, the Genesee County Medical Society cancelled a county-wide immunization program it had scheduled for next Friday and Saturday.

The state spokesman said fewer

Type III Vaccine Decided Against in Several States

Some states have decided to discontinue use of Sabin Type III polio vaccine, but state and local officials in a number of places have adopted a wait and see policy.

Sabin oral vaccine Types I and II will continue to be used generally, checks across the country indicate.

Reaction was mixed after the U.S. Public Health Service announced in Washington Saturday that 11 confirmed cases of Type III polio provided sufficient evidence "to indicate that at least some of these cases have been caused by Type III vaccines."

The special advisory committee of the health service said all 11 confirmed cases occurred in adults. The service recommended limiting the use of Type III vaccine to immunization programs

CREEK NO PROBLEM TO THEM—Man's earliest means of getting to the other side is used by two boys to cross the Esopus Creek near the site of the Aug. 28 collapse of a bridge which went down under weight of a trailer truck. A dog (lower right) watches to see how well they do. Water in the stream, shallow through most of the summer, permits the crossing. A police report at 11:30 a. m. Sunday, said people in the area had gathered to watch a man "build a stone walk across the creek." Murphy Street was reported blocked but Officer Thomas Kearney reported "all clear" after investigating. A foot bridge is due to be moved to the site this week. (Freeman photo)

Senate Debates Today on Bill To Expand Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate begins debate today on the trade expansion bill which would give President Kennedy unprecedented new authority to cut tariffs.

Leaders hope for passage in a few days of the measure aimed at winning mutual trade concessions from other countries.

The President has said the bill would give the nation "a new and bold instrument of American trade policy" and has given it a top priority rating in his legislative program.

The House has passed the bill and the Senate Finance Committee has approved it, sending the bill to the floor Friday after a series of key votes resulting in unbroken administration victories.

However, several senators were ready to vote for amendments to knock out or water down major sections.

Depends on Action

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was prepared to run the Senate early and late on the bill. If it is passed speedily, Congress may be able to finish its business by Sept. 29, he said.

On Thursday the House will debate another major item standing in the way of adjournment—the foreign aid appropriations bill.

Senate-House conferees will meet during the week on such im-

of personal headlines."

Hastings charged in a news release that Mayor John J. Schwenk and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson were playing politics with the viaduct bridge and that the state has offered to build a temporary one-lane bridge over the Esopus Creek to serve traffic until completion of a new bridge.

Points to "Traffic"

Referring to Hastings' news release that the State will place a temporary vehicular bridge over Esopus Creek at Washington Avenue, and that the information was being withheld for political purposes, St. John said that Hastings has taken the word "traffic" from presidential assistant T. J. Reardon's letter, and tried to infer that this meant vehicular traffic.

As of a last minute check by mayor Schwenk this morning with top officials of the State Department of Public Works, St. John said, it is clear that the bridge the State has agreed to erect will be for pedestrian traffic only, just as was reported last week. Despite renewed requests by both assemblyman Wilson and mayor Schwenk, the State engineers are still opposed to a temporary vehicular bridge.

Desire for Headlines

"It is pitiful that Hastings' abnormal desire for headlines and personal political advantage results in misinformation that plays upon the hopes of the unfortunate people who have been hurt by the bridge collapse," St. John declared.

"It is obvious," St. John continued, "that Hastings' latest strategy is based on the two-way premise that if the responsible parties (Wilson and Schwenk)

Party Platforms Differ Widely Especially on Economic Views

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wide divergence of views, especially on economic matters, is evident in the proposed campaign platforms of the Democratic and Republican parties in New York State.

The platforms, made public Sunday, are both review, of the last four years and programs for the next four—documents that each party hopes will woo voters to its side in the November election.

The Republican platform, 2,000 words long, hails what it calls the "unprecedented accomplishments" of the administration of Gov. Rockefeller and promises, in general, to continue and expand the Rockefeller program.

The Democrats, in a 5,000-word platform, warn that the state faces a "crisis of stagnation" stemming from Republican policies. They make a series of specific proposals that they say are aimed at meeting the crisis.

Here is a point-by-point comparison of major planks in the two platforms:

State of the State

GOP — "Through Republican partnership government and party responsibility, New York State again is in the forefront of the states in imaginative leadership and solid accomplishment."

Democrats — "After four years of inept Rockefeller leadership... New York has fallen behind many

Castro's Troops Are Near Base To Check Cubans Is U. S. Opinion

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Affairs Writer

GUANTANAMO NAVAL BASE, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro has deployed about 5,000 to 6,000 troops near this U.S. base in eastern Cuba, according to the intelligence reaching American Navy and Marine commanders.

But U.S. military authorities believe these regulars, bolstered by thousands of militiamen, are there to keep the Cuban people in check rather than to mount an attack on this vital American fleet base.

Guantanamo's command doubts the likelihood of any serious Cuban threat to the 45-square-mile base, but the entire military force of about 3,000 men has been trained to fight if trouble comes.

So far little of the new military gear the Soviet Union has supplied to Castro's regime has shown up near this U.S. enclave, Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, base commander, said his patrols have not sighted any missile-armed torpedo boats which President Kennedy said have been sent to Cuba.

Soviet-Made Trucks

O'Donnell reported Soviet-made trucks are operating outside Guantanamo's fence, but they have been in the area for some time.

Persons suspected of being Communist bloc nationals, including some Asians, have been spotted near the base.

Castro has perhaps 100 Soviet-made Mig fighters, but there have been no intrusions of Guantanamo's air space since the spring of 1961.

Most of Castro's forces in this area are stationed some miles from Guantanamo's 26-mile perimeter, but the Cubans maintain a line of one and two-man out-

Candidates At Syracuse Increasing

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—As the tempo of social life at the Democratic state convention increases, so does the number of candidates for state office.

The list of possible candidates that might have been valid at noon Sunday as the delegates arrived, no longer was valid at midnight after the many receptions, buffets and "come meet the candidate" parties.

Hope seemed to be springing in the most unlikely quarters. One campaign official said Sunday night that he had spoken to a friend who suddenly felt that he could become the nominee for governor.

Not in Papers

"This man's name hasn't even been in the papers," the official said. He would not, however, reveal the name so that the oversight could be corrected.

The cause of the sudden candidacies stems from the unsettled state of the ticket and the convention rumor mill—now in high gear. No ten minutes went by without a flash that one or the other of the front-runners suddenly had lost ground.

The rank-and-file was in a state of confusion. As one committee man said to another at the bar: "Who the hell are we supporting for governor?"

The most unlikely political act of the day was committed by

Two Get Jail Terms In Fire Alarm Rash

Local firemen kept busy enough with a succession of Saturday calls, were swung into a whirl of action Sunday by a run of fire calls and false alarms, the latter resulting in the arrest of two young men on malicious mischief charges.

The city, itself was on nerves' edge with the repeated din during the rash of night calls as firemen responded to the false alarms and to others for actual fires. Two police probes were requested. One of them after a car fire early today.

Fireman Ronald F. Kuhne, of Cornell Station, was hospitalized for injury of the eyes which were sprayed with the contents of a mask canister as he fought a rubbish fire in a quarry hole off German and Hone Streets.

Both Plead Guilty

Both pleaded guilty today before City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman, who imposed a sentence of 10 days in jail and gave them the choice of paying a $350 fine each or spending an additional 30 days in jail. The fines were not immediately paid.

Police said the two were picked up and charged with malicious mischief after a car license number had been taken and forwarded. A report at 4 a. m. today noted that they had been booked on the malicious mischief charges.

Houghtaling was released under $50 bail and Zehnick was held in jail pending court appearance, the report said.

The run of false alarms followed an alarm at 10:37 p. m. from Box 5223, listed for the Jacobson Shirt Factory, Cornell Street. It was for a blaze in rubbish and brush, and it was reported that paper and the rubbish had been placed over a smudge pot along the railroad tracks off Cornell Street. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, The Wicks, Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteer companies responded.

False Alarms Follow

A succession of false alarms followed; from Box 5522, Clifton Avenue and Stephan Street at 10:59 p. m. Box 2123, Chambers and East Pierpont Street at 11:06 p. m. Box 2251, East Strand and Abrun Street, at 11:11 p. m. and from Box 1521, Washington Avenue and Main Street at 11:28 p. m.

The next call at 11:31 p. m. was for a brush fire in the First

Senate to Deal With Proposals On Handling Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate committees today made into a series of proposals for dealing with the Communist arms buildup in Cuba.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara have been called to testify.

One of the Senate's largest hearing rooms serves as the setting for this joint meeting of the Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. By Thursday, the groups must decide what proposals—if any—are to be attached to a resolution authorizing President Kennedy to muster 150,000 Reserves as he deems necessary.

In winning unanimous passage of the resolution last Thursday, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana agreed that Republicans-proposed riders be sent to the committees for separate consideration.

The show of unity behind Kennedy's request may come unhinged as the committees sift some of the suggestions on how the United States should get tough with Cuba.

A Democrat, Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida, has indicated he will try to tack onto Mansfield's resolution formal recognition of a Cuban government-in-exile.

Paulding's Trial Continues Today In Poughkeepsie

Trial of Perry Patrick Paulding, 20, New York City, on charges of robbery resulting from the $43,107 robbery at the Dover Plains National Bank April 16, continued today before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz at Poughkeepsie.

Paulding is the only one of four defendants accused of the robbery who has not pleaded guilty. The others are William T. Maslousky, 20, Hurville, N. J.; Kenneth David Graham, 29, who lived with Paulding in New York City, and Charles James Cooper, 33, New York City.

Paulding's attorney contends that Paulding did not willingly take part in the holdup of the bank. Graham has testified that he and Paulding purchased two shotguns that later were saved off and used in the holdup, and that Graham helped plan the robbery.

Maslousky and Cooper were expected to take the witness stand during today's session.

The defendants face prison terms of 10 to 30 years on the first degree robbery charges.

Castro's Troops

posts within 100 yards of the base fence.

Cubans Good Soldiers—U.S. officers generally rate the Cuban soldiers facing Guantanamo as of good quality and well disciplined.

This has prompted speculation that name calling, rock throwing and other harassment of U.S. sentinels may be an officially inspired effort to provoke U.S. Marines into counter action.

U.S. guards have been ordered to refrain from shouting back or making any gestures that Cuban cameramen could photograph to back up Castro's claims that U.S. military forces are engaged in provocative acts.

Castro has one effective means of turning the screw on Guantanamo if he wishes. The big base's water supply comes from inside Cuban territory, but so far he has made no attempt to cut it off.

The Mercury astronauts are still very much on the flying list despite their age, space officials said. They explained the amount of time a man can remain on flying status is an individual matter, depending solely on his physical and mental condition.

Walter Schirra, scheduled to make a six-orbit flight in a Mercury capsule Sept. 28, is 39.

The new astronauts will be prime candidates for the Gemini project to put two men into orbit in a single capsule. Experienced spacemen probably will be paired with the new astronauts to take advantage of things learned in the Mercury program. NASA spokesmen said.

The Apollo project is designed to place two men on the lunar surface. Gemini will give the astronauts practice in making a space rendezvous, required by present Apollo plans.

Nine more astronauts are expected to be named about the time the Apollo flights begin.

Three Hurt, Two Are in Jail After Morey Hill Battle

Three persons were injured and two committed to Ulster County Jail as the result of an altercation at Morey Hill Road near Route 28 Sunday night, Kingston state police reported.

Mrs. Hazel Johnston of Sawkill, who troopers said suffered a lip laceration requiring six stitches, is in Kingston Hospital today. Her condition was not available at Freeman press time. James Scully, 30, of RFD 2, Box 285A, Kingston, who troopers said suffered lacerations of the face and lip and was unconscious at the scene, is reported in poor condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

James Winnie, 29, same RFD address, was treated and released from Benedictine Hospital, and according to state police suffered a lacerated finger and contusions of the forehead and left knee. He pleaded guilty to third degree assault for reportedly striking Bernard Johnston, 23, of RFD 2, Box 124, Kingston, and was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $200 bail. He will be sentenced Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. by Town of Ulster Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly.

Bernard Johnston, held for second degree assault for allegedly hitting Scully with a bumper jack, waived examination and was committed to Ulster County Jail to await grand jury action. He also appeared before Judge Reilly early this morning.

Troopers said a car bumping and horn blowing incident on Morey Hill Road precipitated the altercation between Winnie and Johnston. When Mrs. Johnston, reportedly the mother of Bernard, tried to break up the fight, she was struck in the mouth by James Winnie, the report said.

At this point Bernard Johnston got out the bumper jack and swung it at Winnie and Scully while they were in the car, and the jack struck Scully, knocking him unconscious, state police reported.

The Johnstons, including Harold Johnston were in one car, and the Winnies, Scully, John Slater, and Milton Winnie were in the other car, troopers said. Responding to the call were BCI Sr. Investigator Frank B. Stainkamp, and Troopers Richard Ryan, Norman Kilfoyle, Wayne Lawrence and James Conrad.

O'Connor Fights On, Morgenthau Has Edge

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Robert M. Morgenthau held the upper hand in the all-out struggle for the Democratic nomination for governor being decided at the party convention opening today. But Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, pressing a "Morgenthau-can't-win" attack, hung on tenaciously and refused to accept the prevailing opinion he must eventually surrender to the Morgenthau forces.

The site of the two-day convention was the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium.

There, 1,138 delegates will select tonight a candidate to lead the party in an uphill fight against Republican Gov. Rockefeller this fall.

The delegates will fill other openings on the state ticket and adopt a platform calling for sharply increased state aid to education, a $1.50-an-hour minimum wage and a 21-year minimum drinking law.

The balance of power in the gubernatorial contest lay in the big New York City delegations, particularly the 100-vote Bronx contingent headed by Rep. Charles A. Buckley.

A decision on a candidate was expected to emerge from various caucuses before the call is sounded at tonight's session for nominations for governor.

O'Connor said Sunday that his drive would stand or fall on the basis of what The Bronx did.

Support of 570 delegates is needed for the nomination. Neither Morgenthau nor O'Connor was within 200 votes of a majority as convention day arrived.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, the convention keynote speaker, said in his prepared speech that Rockefeller was "a cardboard political hero" who had "demonstrated no political conviction except the intense one that he ought to be the next President of the United States."

Two other candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady and industrialist Howard Samuels of Canandaigua, stood fast, despite the fact they had virtually no chance of winning.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 17, 1962

CONSTITUTION WEEK

The lawyer-conducted courthouse program planned for local high school students by members of the Ulster County Bar Association is a very useful form of developing genuine appreciation for the United States Constitution.

During Constitution Week, which currently is being observed, the pupils will be taken on a tour of the courthouse, where they will be given the opportunity to see first hand the operations of the various governmental bodies. An explanation of the functions of the courts will be given by a member of the bar. This effort to acquaint our young people with this remarkable charter is one of the very best ways to honor the Constitution.

To know the Constitution and recognize that it needs constant support and protection is the duty of all citizens. The growth and strength of our Nation and the safeguarding of its principles of liberty, justice and opportunity rest upon the Constitution.

In these times it is fitting that all citizens re-read the Constitution so that they will fully appreciate its glorious principles and pledge anew to preserve, protect and defend it.

THE HARM IN TESTING

An important point about nuclear weapons testing is reiterated in the second report of the United Nations Scientific Committee on the Effects of Atomic Radiation. It is a point sometimes ignored, and often scorned or minimized, by those who advocate continued testing with little regard to the biological effects.

The committee is composed of scientists from 15 nations, including ours. Their basic conclusion, after an exhaustive study of both private and governmental research findings, is that calling a halt to nuclear bomb tests "would benefit present and future generations of mankind."

The reverse side of this coin is that continuing the tests will do harm to present and future generations. Neither the extent nor the precise nature of these effects can be stated with accuracy, because not enough has been learned thus far about the matter. This is one prime reason for concern and prudence.

As the United Nations committee, acknowledges, man-made radiation is still much less than natural background radiation. This appears to warrant shrugging off its possible ill effects. Those inclined to make much of this point should mull over this statement by the committee: "Because of the available evidence that genetic damage occurs at the lowest levels experimentally tested, it is prudent to assume that some genetic damage may follow any dose of radiation, however small."

Two warnings emerge from this report: that little is yet known about the frequency of damage from radioactive fallout, and that further testing is bound to increase the danger. Both points argue the wisdom of holding nuclear tests to the absolute minimum consistent with national security.

IT'S NOT BALONEY

Recently there has been much debate, inspired by Rachel Carson's book "Silent Spring," about the effects of insect-killing sprays on wildlife and the foods we eat. Now a distinguished Harvard expert on nutrition has entered the lists with a resounding declaration that all this concern is "baloney."

Dr. Frederick J. Stare's bonafides are impressive. There is much weight, therefore, in his declaration that "I do not know of a single case where a single physician has ever published any reliable information that a single individual has ever been injured by the proper use of pesticides."

There is just one little trouble with that. The phrase, "proper use," is a neat escape hatch. The difficulty is that pesticides are not always properly used. This is not the whole source of concern, but it is enough to warrant the judgment that concern about pesticides is by no means "baloney."

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE MONROE DOCTRINE

The Monroe Doctrine was neither a treaty nor an act of Congress. It was a paragraph in an annual address, served unilaterally by President James Monroe in 1823 and accepted by all nations. We were a young and weak nation in 1823 and afraid of no country.

The Monroe Doctrine arose in this manner: the Russians on September 4, 1821 issued an imperial ukase extending the boundaries of the Russian claims along the Pacific coast to the 51st parallel, which included part of Oregon territory. Surrounding waters were closed to other countries. John Quincy Adams, Secretary of State, rejected Russian claims, saying:

"... that we should contest the right of Russia to any territorial establishment on this continent, and that we should assume distinctly the principle that the American continents are no longer subjects for any new European colonial establishments."

This became the central point of the Monroe Doctrine. The Russians backed down. Great Britain was at that time deeply concerned over the possible extension of Spanish and French developments on the American continent. George Canning, British Foreign Minister, was playing power politics against Spain and France and therefore supported the American policy. Canning wanted some joint Anglo-American action.

Whereas Jefferson and Madison favored such co-operation, John Quincy Adams opposed it, regarding it as essential for the firm establishment of the American nation that we go it alone. He said:

"It would be more candid, as well as more dignified, to avow our principles explicitly to Russia and France, than to come in as a cock-boat in the wake of the British man-of-war."

In his annual message to Congress on December 2, 1823, President Monroe included a paragraph which contained these four points:

1. The American continents were no longer to be considered as subjects for future colonization by European powers; 2. there existed in the Americas a political system essentially different and separate from that of Europe; 3. the United States would consider dangerous to its peace and safety any attempt on the part of European powers to extend their system to the Western Hemisphere; 4. the United States would not interfere with existing colonies or dependencies of European powers in the New World.

The Monroe Doctrine had no standing international law until the Act of Havana (1940) but it was as binding as the Ten Commandments. It had no sanction, to repeat, of treaty or act of Congress or acceptance by an international congress, but no country questioned its authority.

Although the British played a leading role in the acceptance of the Monroe Doctrine in 1823, they challenged it in the Venezuelan Boundary Dispute. The United States opposed the British on the basis of the Monroe Doctrine. President Cleveland said:

"... be the duty of the United States to resist by every means in its power, as a wilful aggression upon its rights and interests, the appropriation by Great Britain of any lands or the exercise of governmental jurisdiction over any territory which after investigation we have determined to belong to Venezuela."

In 1899, at the First Hague Convention, the United States made a reservation concerning arbitration that no question arising under the Monroe Doctrine was subject to arbitration. Important in the preservation of the Monroe Doctrine as basic in American policy is the Lodge Corollary (August 2, 1912). Senator Henry Cabot Lodge opposed all the efforts toward arbitration unless the Monroe Doctrine were explained. A Japanese firm sought to purchase a large property in Lower California. Lodge, then the most powerful man in the Senate, declared that the United States would view with alarm:

"The possession of strategically important areas by any corporation or association which has such a relation to another Government, not American, as to give that Government practical power of control for national purposes."

On July 30, 1940 the Act of Havana was unanimously approved by the delegates of 21 republics of the Pan-American Union. It provided that the American republics, collectively or individually, might take over and administer any European possession in the new world endangered by aggression from outside. Out of this act grew the Organization of American States (OAS) which, in effect, took over the functions of the Monroe Doctrine. Actually it is the first formal adoption of its principles by the Latin American countries although they all abided by the Doctrine since 1823.

Overcare Can Affect

An Asthmatic Child

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

You'd hate to believe that harm may result from excessive parental devotion. Yet there's evidence that improvement in a distressing condition, such as bronchial asthma, may be produced with some consistency when certain child asthmatics are separated from their doting parents.

Of the two million child asthmatics in the United States, some 300,000 are classified as "intractable," meaning that they no longer respond to injections of adrenalin and similar drugs.

In an intensive study of 300 of these "intractable" child asthmatics, carried out in the Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital at Denver, Colo., it was found that almost half of those who ranged in age from 7 to 16 years became free from attacks and remained symptom-free when removed from their homes and admitted to the institute.

When a social study of the parents was made, attitudes of "psychologic unhealthiness" were found. And the "unhealthiness" was never a matter of parental neglect or lack of concern, but rather the result of excessive love and devotion on the part of the mother, most particularly, who spent days and nights in anguish over her child's plight.

Q—My son has rheumatoid arthritis. At the hospital, he was taught to do corrective exercises to prevent deformities of his joints and to improve his posture. He does these faithfully twice daily while he listens to a 15-minute news program on his radio. But a visitor to our home, the other night, told us that she had the same condition and was helped most by electric treatments and light rays. Can you enlighten us about these?

A—A careful survey by British physicians has just confirmed the views held by most American authorities: Postural exercise, carried out religiously by the patient, constitutes the best treatment for arthritis.

These conclusions were reached after a group of 62 patients was given monthly trials with short-wave diathermy, infra-red radiation, electrical stimulation and paraffin wax baths.

The results showed that simple exercises, splinting when necessary and doses of pain killers (analgesics) as indicated, gave just as much relief as all the other treatments. And, I might add, at considerably less expense!

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Kennedy expects to be in the White House for a second term, all right. He has just agreed to serve as honorary chairman of the Tenth International Games for Deaf, which will be held in Washington under the auspices of Gallaudet College for the Deaf, with 800 deaf athletes from 33 countries participating June 27 to July 3, 1965.

CHANGE in direction of the Venus space shot—when a million and a half miles out in space—is now described as "the longest extension of back seat driving in history."

WHEN Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's big Newfoundland, Brumus, traveled with him to Hyannis Port recently, it was the end of a long ordeal for the dog.

With Ethel Kennedy and the seven Kennedy children in Massachusetts most of the summer, Brumus had grown utterly disconsolate. He wouldn't eat, and he could not be comforted.

The rash of news stories about him stemmed from the attorney general's effort to cope with the problem by dragging Brumus down to his office.

But that, too, failed. Brumus was moderately content so long as he lounged at Kennedy's feet. Yet the moment he was shunted to an adjoining room, he moaned in misery.

"He just missed the family, that's all," commented a sympathetic observer just before Brumus hopped the plane for Hyannis Port.

REP DANIEL J. Flood of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., recently learned you should never underestimate the perception of a constituent.

Being chauffeured to Washington from Andrews Air Force Base with a group of congressmen in a military car, Flood asked driver Pvt. Walter Sarnosky where he was from.

Sarnosky answered, "Wilkes-Barre, Pa." Flood then asked the young man if he knew who his congressman was, expecting the usual embarrassed "I don't know" reply.

"Yes, sir," Sarnosky told Flood, "I'm driving him right now."

NEW FRONTIER definition for democracy, circulating in Republican cloakrooms: "You can vote for the Kennedy of your choice."

DEFENSE Secretary Robert McNamara's new methods of the Pentagon have caused many officials to pass this British-imported story from corridor to corridor:

"I try to identify the inevitable and then I cooperate with it."

ON THE OTHER SIDE of the fence, some of McNamara's top aides complain they can't get military and civilian briefs to come to the point. They compare the wandering of too many of the briefers and report-writers to the old French tale of the "Three Brigands," modernized.

Three brigands were seated on a stone. The youngest said to the oldest: "Tell us a story, Edward."

And Edward began:

Four brigands were seated on a stone. The youngest said to the oldest:

"Tell us a story Edward."

And Edward began:

"Five brigands were seated on a stone."

ON THE OUTSIDE, Washington's new $14 million Federal Office Building No. 6 belies its pedestrian name. It is a handsome structure, featuring an openwork pattern in stone.

On the inside, it is still something of a minor nightmare though many months have passed since the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Office of Education took up residence there.

In the beginning, some of the elevators didn't work, phone installations were inadequate for the building's size, and various other "bugs" appeared.

Though some of these have been ironed out, complaints go on. Grizzled veterans of the standard government building maze are still puzzled by the complex room numbering system. They get lost often in the many side passages.

And then there's the air conditioning. Going full tilt, it makes a conference room sound like a landing strip at National Airport. Conferees weight down papers, and conduct their business in shouts.

Some of them long for the good old days of the disreputable wartime temporary office buildings that were torn down to clear the site for No. 6.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Dietators. It is said, seldom smile and never laugh. This is not true. I sat for an hour and 23 minutes with Generalissimo Francisco Franco in the Palacio de Ayete at San Sebastian, Spain, and heard two of the heartiest laughs of the year.

We were discussing Spanish economy. Spain, for the past 23 years, has practically succeeded from the rest of Europe, and its economy is retarded. Wages are lower, and prices are lower, than almost any other place in the world.

I told Franco — through Minister Martin-Gamero, who interpreted, that no matter how hard chiefs of state work to assist national economy, there will always be the individual chiselers who will try to evade the law. He agreed. I told him that, as a case in point, I knew an American in Madrid who runs an office building in a residential section.

The American is Ralph Wheelwright, one-time Los Angeles Examiner reporter who is now vice president of a motion picture company. Ralph often works late and, as I told Franco, he often sees a Spanish woman scrubbing the marble floors.

He nods. She nods. One day he asked his auditor how much the scrub lady was paid. The answer was: 1,000 pesetas a month. This comes to $16.75. Wheelwright was outraged. How dare they make this poor woman scrub floors for such a pittance? Who was responsible? Send him in at once, etc.

As it developed, 1,000 pesetas was the normal wage for four hours of work per night per month. This didn't stop Ralph. "Raise her salary at once," he said. "Make it—uh—give her 50 per cent more." So, as I explained to Franco, the lady was now earning 1,500 pesetas, or $25. "Make it effective at once," Ralph said.

It was done. The next night, Wheelwright had to work a little late, and he couldn't wait to ask the lady if she did not feel Communist Grab in Cuba: The 1930s All Over Again?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Is it the 1930 all over again? Fear of war led then to inaction by the West — and this brought on the big war itself. Will history repeat?

The parallel with events from 1935 to 1938 is startling. Then, as now, a dictator—Mussolini—grabbed Ethiopia. Just as Khushchev today has grabbed Cuba. The West protested feebly in 1935, and the League of Nations voted 20 to 1 for an economic blockade in November of that year. But the United States was indifferent, and the commercial interests of the world succeeded in causing an abandonment of the blockade after eight months of spasmodic effort.

Then, as now in respect to Cuba, a blockade was characterized as useless unless all nations participated wholeheartedly.

Then, as now, the pacifists and appeasers expressed in speeches and newspaper advertisements the fear that a blockade would bring on war and implied it was better to recognize the steps taken by Mussolini as "accomplished facts." The Chamberlains and the Baldwins led Britain into a mess, out of which war became inevitable.

Churchill's Words

The United States wobbled then, too. Let Winston Churchill tell the story. He writes it frankly and bluntly in his book, "The Gathering Storm," published in 1948. He refers pointedly to the economic blockade of Italy as a means of persuading Mussolini to lay off Ethiopia, previously called Abyssinia — a country which also was a member of the League — and declares:

"A large number of commodities, some of which were war materials, were prohibited from entering Italy, and an imposing schedule was drawn up. But oil, without which the campaign in Abyssinia could not have been maintained, continued to enter freely, because it was understood that to stop it meant war. Here the attitude of the United States, not a member of the League of Nations, and the world's main oil supplier, though benevolent, was uncertain. Moreover, to stop it to Italy involved also stopping it to Germany."

Mr. Churchill then criticizes the failure of Britain to back up her economic blockade with naval power, and adds:

"The Italian armies in Abyssinia would have famished for supplies and ammunition. Germany could as yet give no effective help. If ever there was an opportunity of striking a decisive blow in a generous cause with the minimum of risk, it was here and now."

Bluff Succeeded

"The fact that the nerve of the British government was not equal to the occasion can be excused only by their sincere love of peace. Actually it played a part in leading to an infinitely more terrible war. Mussolini's bluff succeeded, and an important spectator drew far-reaching conclusions from the fact. Hitler had long resolved on war for German aggrandizement. He now formed a view of Great Britain's degeneracy which was only to be changed too late for peace and too late for him."

What Mr. Churchill describes as the "irresolute" of those days finds its counterpart in what is happening today. Here is a brief extract from a summary by William L. Ryan of the Associated Press in Sunday morning newspapers this week: "Moscow today just about owns Cuba — lock, stock, barrel and beard. Inexorably, Soviet communism is closing its steel grip. Challenging the United States in the sensitive Caribbean and the Western Hemisphere, Moscow has given the world a lesson in imperialism when the Russians colonize, they colonize for good . . . The Soviet takeover will be complete when Fidel Castro is shoved aside . . . this will be a slow and cautious process, but signs of party conflict are clear."

Allies Indifferent

The United Press International reported last Saturday from Washington as follows:

"The United States has been making quiet diplomatic efforts more than six months to persuade allies in European countries and elsewhere to help isolate Communist Cuba . . .

"The Kennedy administration was receiving little encouragement today from Latin American and European allies in its attempt to tighten the diplomatic and economic squeeze on Cuba. A London dispatch by the United Press International on the same day said:

"Britain has politely but firmly discouraged any American ideas that it join the United States in an economic blockade of Cuba. It was reliably learned today. Other European member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were reported also to have backed away from tentative soundings as to whether they would go along with the United States in any possible embargo against Cuba."

Kennedy Backs Away

Thus, as in the 1930's, the free world is in disunion, and the enemy dictators are taking advantage of such disunion.

President Kennedy, meanwhile, has also backed away. He has disregarded the all-important principle in the Monroe Doctrine which declares against European colonization or imposition of their system in the Western Hemisphere. He says the doctrine means only resistance to the League of Nations and the United States or against other countries in this hemisphere with the aid of a European power. This gives Khushchev a free hand to infiltrate any country in America, take over the government there with a puppet ruler, and send in military supplies and forces without running the risk of any countering action by the United States.

For all practical purposes, has the Monroe Doctrine been buried, as Khushchev in 1960 said, it would be Resolutions in Congress introduced last week by Administration leaders, still mention the doctrine in their "whereas" but not in the text of the conclusions reached. Their theory evidently is that only if America is attacked should any action be taken.

Communist imperialism is thereby given the unchallenged opportunity to extend its system anywhere in the Western Hemisphere. If the United States will not fight when historic American policy is being violated 90 miles away from its shores, the dictatorship in Moscow may conclude that pacifism has won a big victory in the Americas and the West, and that there will be no resistance to Communist aggressions anywhere else in the world, including Berlin. It could be the 1930s all over again. (Rights Reserved)

An area Boy Scout executive has been named district Scout executive with the upper Mohawk Council at Utica. Robert E. Hensel has served as district Boy Scout executive with the Rip Van Winkle Boy Scout Council.

In addition to that office, Hensel served as director of Rip Van Winkle Council's Camp Tri-Mount Boy Scout Reservation at East Jewett. During his tenure, the camp received several commendations including an A-99 rating this summer in a national inspection.

As District Scout Executive, Hensel had principal responsibilities in the Western, Southern and Rondout Valley Districts of Rip Van Winkle Council, which serves Ulster and Greene Counties.

Health for All

Dangerous Stuff

Two-year-old Johnny was playing quietly in his room when his mother heard him choking. She rushed to his room to find him with talcum powder in his mouth, breathing heavily and coughing. An open can of talcum powder was beside him. She rushed him to the hospital. In spite of everything the doctors could do, Johnny died the next day. Cause of death was massive inhalation of talcum powder.

The average household is crammed with potentially death-dealing powders, pills, and liquids. Of the 822,000 poison casualties every year, two-thirds are children under five.

The under-five years are ones when the youngster is developing interest in the environment and everything in it. He works hard to get into everything and much of what he handles goes into his mouth. All in the spirit of exploration. He will open even tightly-fitting doors on kitchen and bathroom cabinets, unless they're kept locked. He will climb on a chair or table to get at something that is out of his reach. He will spend hours working at the cap on a pill bottle until he has it open.

Out of baby's reach probably means out of your reach too. But it's better to have the inconvenience of climbing on a chair or stepstool yourself than to let baby get into something that will harm him. Anything that can't go very high up should be locked up.

These precautions may seem like a fearful nuisance but they can save your child's life.

UN Is Expected To Name U Thant To 5-Year Term

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Diplomats from various parts of the world predicted today that the 17th General Assembly opening Tuesday will name U. Thant of Burma to a full five-year term as secretary-general of the United Nations.

Thant is acting secretary-general, serving out the unexpired term of the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld that ends next April 10. He was elected last Nov. 3 after Hammarskjöld's death in a plane crash in Africa a year ago today.

U.S. delegate Charles W. Yost, presiding over the assembly session Sunday, indicated that the U.S. delegation expects Thant to be re-elected.

Yost told New York area members of the American Association for the United Nations: "The performance of the acting secretary-general has been so outstanding and has met with such universal support among the members that we doubt if this will be the subject of serious controversy."

"We would be very much surprised if the Soviets were to raise again the matter of the troika, which was so decisively defeated last year."

In negotiations on Hammarskjöld's successor, the Soviet Union first insisted that the management of the United Nations be taken over by three of its under-secretaries—an American, an Indian and a Russian.

But this so-called troika plan proved unpopular, and the Russians later shelved it and joined in the election of Thant on condition he function with the counsel of certain "principal advisers" representing various regions of the world.

The Soviet Union could block his continuance in office by vetoing him in the Security Council, which must recommend him before the assembly can re-elect him.

Suffers Broken Leg In Traffic Accident

Richard Buckley, 5, son of Mrs. Marie L. Buckley of Mary Avenue, Lake Katrine, suffered a broken leg Saturday shortly before noon when struck by a car operated by George Emmet, 84, of Richmond Parkway, Town of Ulster. He was treated at Benedictine Hospital and released.

Deputy Sheriff Emil T. Kuhnen investigated. The Emmet car was proceeding south on Neighborhood Road near Mary's Avenue when, Emmet told the investigating officer he saw the boy seated on the side of the road, that the boy jumped up and ran against the car. Mrs. Buckley reported the boy had been looking for traffic from the opposite way when he was struck from behind by the Emmet car.

Deny Troop Movement

TOKYO (AP)—North Viet Nam denied today that any of its troops are moving from Laos to bolster Red guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

A North Viet Nam news agency report from Hanoi asserted North Vietnamese troops in Laos were being withdrawn under terms of the Geneva agreement setting up a neutral Laos.

Two Get

Avenue area near the city refuse disposal site, and that was followed by a false alarm from Box 3241, Abeel and German Streets, at 11:51 p. m.

Before the call to Cornell Street at 10:37 p. m., firemen were called at 10:15 p. m. for a brush fire on a hill above 107 DeWitt Street.

Earlier calls Sunday included one at 4:31 p. m. for a fire in a chair and old lumber inside a cave off the end of Tompkins Street. A unit from Union Hose Company responded.

Fire in Attic

The next call at 8:18 p. m. was for fire in the attic of a vacant house at 9 Spruce Street. Firemen said it started in rubbish and was confined to the point of origin. Two doors were found open and police were asked to investigate. The house is owned by Robert Ortale, of 254 Lucas Avenue. Units from Central and Cornell stations and the Rapid Company responded.

A call at 2:04 p. m. Sunday was for a blaze in a rubbish pile off Greenkill Avenue near the plant of C. A. Baltz & Son, Inc. Firemen said the blaze spread to a loading platform and heat from the flames broke windows in the building. Units from Central Station and the Wicks Company responded.

Other Calls

Other calls Saturday were at 2:13 p. m. for a brush fire off First Avenue in the Devil's Lake area, at 2:40 p. m. for one 94 Abriyn Street, and at 5:30 p. m. for one in the quarry hole off German Street, where rubbish was reported burning. Fireman Kuhne, who suffered eye injuries in fighting that blaze, was treated at the Benedictine Hospital. Another call Saturday at 7:13 p. m. was for a brush fire in the First Avenue-Hooker Street area.

Another investigation was requested after a call at 1:13 a. m. today for a fire in a car owned by John Zeeh, of 150 Clifton Avenue, parked at the curb at that address. Police were told that the top of the car had been slashed and "something dropped inside had ignited a seat." Units from Central Station and the Wicks Company responded and firemen said the blaze had damaged the seat and caused damage inside the car. Deputy Chief Glyn H. Southard requested the investigation.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Spotty strength pushed an irregular stock market slightly to the upside in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 224.0, with industrials up .9, rails up .1 and utilities unchanged.

Some of the chemicals, aerospace issues, and motors helped industrials to show a gain on balance. Drugs tended to back off slightly amid news affecting some of these companies.

The pattern was narrowly uneven among utilities, rails and airlines. Rubbers and nonferrous metals showed a slightly lower trend as did steels. The steel industry was reported to show no signs of a pickup.

Although new car sales were 29 per cent above the year ago level in early September, they ran at the lowest level of 1962, reflecting the usual slump at the end of the model year.

Among the motors, Chrysler was outstanding with a gain of well over a point as it recouped part of last week's loss.

Polaroid, last week's most active issue, IBM, and Xerox all added about 4 points.

Boeing, up a point, was about the best in the aerospace sector.

Zenith was a 1-point gainer in the electronics group.

Pfizer was off 1/4 at the start but pared the loss to a fraction.

American home products was easy and American Cyanamid showed scant change. These companies produce Sabin Type III polio vaccine. It was reported that some states have decided to discontinue use of this type of vaccine.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mixed.

Candidates

Rep. Charles A. Buckley, the Bronx chief, Buckley was host at a dinner for his delegation last night and did not make a speech. Veteran political observers could not recall a similar speechless political dinner.

While people watched Buckley, one of the gubernatorial front-runners, Robert M. Morgenthau, was having difficulty attracting attention. He invited county chairmen and their wives to a private dinner, but the response was so poor that he sent boys through the hotel lobby with signs announcing the affair, and had the public address system announce that chairmen were invited.

Eight Are for Dad

It seemed no one could go anywhere in the convention hotel without running into the offspring of Howard J. Samuels, another gubernatorial hopeful. Samuels has eight ubiquitous children and they were signs proclaiming "I'm another Samuels."

Although Samuels, of Canandaigua, was drawing favorable attention from the delegates, his political base was weak. He bills himself as "the candidate from nowhere."

Democratic

A candidate for governor will be chosen at tonight's session to lead the party fight against Republican Gov. Rockefeller.

Nominations for U.S. senator, lieutenant-governor, comptroller, attorney-general and judge of the court of appeals will be made Tuesday.

License Renewal Forms Are Sent To Wrong Office

ALBANY—In spite of instructions to the contrary, many state residents whose operator licenses are due to expire on September 30 have mailed their renewal applications to the Albany District Office of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The instructions were to take or mail the new punch card applications to the nearest department office or county clerk's office in the area where the person lives, to be validated.

Because of the drivers' failure to follow the procedure, the Albany office has received many times the expected number of renewal applications and extra workers have had to be assigned to handle the task. The overload has delayed processing the applications and has resulted in many needless telephone inquiries asking why the new license has not been received as yet.

The department today assured those drivers that their renewals are being expedited and that the probability is that they will receive them before the September 30 deadline.

Meanwhile, Commissioner William S. Hults again urged those drivers who haven't renewed as yet to follow the correct procedure. Take the application to the closest county clerk's office in all counties except Albany, New York, Queens, Kings, Bronx and Richmond, or a department district office for validation.

He pointed out that there is not sufficient time left for the renewals to be handled by mail.

Jaycees Schedule Glen Miller Band Concert Sept. 24

This year to support their Youth Activities Fund the Jaycees are bringing to Kingston the world famous Glen Miller band under the direction of and featuring Ray McKinley. The band concert will be held on Monday, Sept. 24, at 8:30 p. m. at the Municipal Auditorium.

Tickets are on sale at several local stores and may also be purchased at the door on the night of the concert. The Jaycees ask the people of the city to give their support to the Youth Activities Fund and to treat themselves to an enjoyable evening listening to the well known Glen Miller sound. The orchestra will feature such well known artists as Joan Shepherd, Lenny Hambo and Johnny Pursley.

About 20 service projects recommended by the board of directors and approved by the membership will be conducted during the next year. Projects of particular interest to the general public are the junior athletic and safety programs such as junior biddy basketball, junior golf, junior tennis, teenage road-o, outdoor regatta, bike safety, scouting, driver safety, teenage talent and the always well attended Easter egg hunt.

Several Christmas projects such as the shopping tour which is specially designed to bring some Christmas joy to the underprivileged children of the city, and a Christmas caroling tour are also planned.

The Jaycees also have community development projects planned and will be taking an active part in the civic and public affairs of Kingston.

No Radioactivity

Type III Vaccine

ties even if there was no question about safety, he said.

Celebrezze said there was no incident involving a child who had taken Type III oral vaccine.

A newsman then said Public Health Service records showed that at least four children developed polio after taking Type III oral vaccine.

Celebrezze replied: "The cases which we cited are those in which there was considered to be a relationship between the vaccine and the disease."

The secretary added that in the children's cases cited by the newsman, no direct relationship between the vaccine and the contraction of the disease had been established.

Some Canadian and New York authorities, a newsman noted, had halted Type III vaccine programs, ing ahead with immunization programs, and he asked Celebrezze to comment on this.

Celebrezze's comment was: "It's a question on which reasonable minds may differ."

Purchases 15 Years Ago

Q) "About 15 years ago, I bought some stock for future income. I am now retired and worried about my holdings, which have not been reviewed by anyone since they were purchased. Can you suggest any changes that might improve both income and security? I own Central Illinois Public Service, Bank of America, Otter Tail Power, San Diego Gas & Electric, Champion Papers and Pacific Power & Light." O. F.

A) I'm very happy to tell you that you have nothing at all to be worried about. You have an excellent list of securities, which must show you a substantial profit over your original purchase price. You are strongest in public utilities, but I wouldn't sell any of them unless added income is absolutely imperative. In the latter event, you might switch Central Illinois Public Service, yielding less than 3 1/2 per cent, into Tennessee Gas Transmission, yielding 5.5 per cent.

You are a fortunate man, but I suggest you have your holdings reviewed again, within a shorter time span.

Q) "We're a couple in our 30's and have recently received $10,000. Our children's education has been provided for, and we have adequate life insurance. We have owned shares of Lehn & Fink since 1955. These have split 3-for-1 and have greatly appreciated in value. With our $5,000 (yes, we'll put the cash in a savings account) should we buy more Lehn & Fink? If not, what would you advise?" W. M.

A) You're a successful young couple and you seem to be a nice one, as well. I like Lehn & Fink. But I'm going to assume that you now own at least 100 shares, worth about $3,500. I think that's enough for the present.

You certainly took the words out of my mouth with your remark about the savings account—as you probably knew very well. I suggest that you divide your investment into two parts, with one-half going into FMC Corporation and the balance into Northern Illinois Gas.

Fallout Reported Not Dangerous in United States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze says a federal board has found that radioactive fallout is not at dangerous levels in the United States at this time.

The group said it would not recommend the preventive and countermeasures taken recently when radioactivity counts shot to high levels in some areas.

The Federal Radiation Council, top-ranking government body dealing with the problems of radiation fallout, issued a report today on its meeting of a week ago.

Celebrezze said Sunday in a television interview that the council had concluded there is no great danger to the nation from fallout at this time. He heads the group.

The council's report did not mention the areas involved or the countermeasures taken.

Search Resumed For Clues in Death Of Slain Woman

SHERBURNE, N.Y. (AP)—Investigators resumed at daybreak today an exhaustive search of a heavily wooded wilderness near here for clues to the slaying of a woman last seen with a man later accused of murder.

The nude and badly decomposed body of Mrs. Clara M. Blair, 46, of Earlville, was found Sunday beside a narrow dirt road in the rugged hill country of Southern Madison County near the Chenango County line.

Police said her death was homicide. An autopsy was ordered to determine who she died.

Her pet Pekinese dog, half-starved but still alive, was with the body.

Mrs. Blair was last seen Sept. 9 in Earlville with Philip Quinlivan, 32, a Binghamton truck driver. He was held at the Broome County Jail in Binghamton on a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of Mrs. Iva Munson, 41, at her rural home near Windsor a week ago.

Broome County sheriff's deputies said Quinlivan admitted the Munson slaying. She had been shot to death with a .35-caliber rifle.

Both Mrs. Munson and Mrs. Blair had four children.

Questioned about Mrs. Blair after she was reported missing, Quinlivan said he did not know where she was, investigators reported.

Mrs. Blair, separated from her husband, lived with her mother and three of her children. A fourth daughter, Mrs. Karl Von Bank, lives in Sherburne.

Broome County investigators have said Quinlivan told them he did not know Mrs. Munson but had heard of her. They quoted him as saying he had a "sudden urge" to kill her.

His car was found abandoned near the Munson home. He was arrested Friday in Binghamton.

Group Will Campaign For Mouse Fare Cut

LONDON (AP)—A campaign was started today to slash railroad fares — for mice. Also for rabbits and guinea pigs.

Percy Ashley, 73, president of the National Mouse Club, announced the campaign.

Club members, who exhibit prize mice all over Britain, complain the high cost of transporting the mice is pricing them out of a hobby.

"On short distance it costs more to send a mouse than it does a man," Ashley said.

Highland Man Is Fined $40 After Route 32 Mishap

A 37-year-old Highland man was charged with driving a motor vehicle without a license and operating an unregistered car after a mishap on Route 32, Town of Plattekill, Sunday night.

Highland State Police Sergeant Robert Smith reported Theodore Seymoure, of Highland, was driving north on Route 32 when his car failed to negotiate a left curve. The vehicle left the highway, struck a utility pole and came to stop in a ditch.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace James F. Palen, Town of Plattekill, Seymoure pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined $20 for each violation, troopers said.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A plot to overthrow the government, blamed on Communists and backers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron, has been smashed in northeast Argentina, the nation's security forces reported Sunday.

Courthouse Tours For Pupils Set 2 Days This Week

William D. Brinnier, president of Ulster County Bar Association, today announced that the association in cooperation with the New York State Bar Association, Constitution Week, Sept. 17 to 23, will be observed here with lawyer-conducted courthouse tours for high school students on Wednesday and Thursday mornings beginning at 9:30 o'clock.

President Brinnier said that the Bar Association hopes that as a result of these planned tours, high school students in Ulster County will gain a better appreciation of the American form of government and will be encouraged to take a more active interest in government after their graduation from school.

The guided tours were originally scheduled for Wednesday but have been extended to include both Wednesday and Thursday. The program will be under the direction of a committee headed by Attorney William J. Wilkin of Saugerties. After a group explanation of the functions of the courts and the various courthouse offices, a tour of the building to actually see that part of government in operation will be scheduled.

Assisting Chairman Wilkin will be Attorneys George Beck, Bernard A. Feeney Jr., Assistant District Attorney James T. Murray, Norman Kellar, Richard Griggs, Assistant District Attorney Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., Richard Lent, Hubert Richter, Richard Drake and Robert Carnright.

Eggs on the No-Shell

Kennedy Holds Fast To Sailing Schedule

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Unlike the America's Cup contenders, President Kennedy held fast to his sailing plans today.

Kennedy had a choice between the presidential yacht Honey Fitz for a motor cruise or the Coast Guard yawl Manitoir for a sail under canvas. Both were near the pier at Hammersmith Farm, where he is taking time off with Mrs. Kennedy and their children. He won't see Weatherly and Gretel, the U.S. defender and Australian challenger in the America's Cup series race today because at Gretel's request, the second contest in the best-of-seven series was postponed until Tuesday.

Aides at the Newport White House said Kennedy had set no fixed schedule today.

Paltz Teacher Returns After 4 Years in Peru

Miss Henriette F. Wicks has returned to her home at 8 South Oakwood Terrace in New Paltz after four years in the schools of Lima, Peru. While in South America, Miss Wicks served as consultant in elementary education with the United States State Department, assisting the Peruvian Ministry of Education. This work was under the United States foreign aid program, the Agency for International Development (AID).

Miss Wicks and her Peruvian counterpart, in collaboration with the Peruvian Ministry of Education, prepared and taught in-service training courses for elementary teachers. Eight-hundred-fifty teachers followed their course, the teaching of reading. Summer courses they offered included those on teaching reading and writing, and one on the preparation of teaching materials. At the Rural Normal School their course was on the supervision of elementary education. Jungle area teachers and principals also were aided by their programs.

Miss Wicks helped to establish and teach the first early childhood education courses ever offered to Peruvian teachers. She prepared young peoples reading materials, notably a series of basic readers for children in the grades one through six, with accompanying teachers' guides and manuals.

Miss Wicks is returning to New Paltz as assistant professor in the Education Division of the State University College here. Prior to the Peruvian adventure she was for six years assistant professor in the Campus School of the college.

When asked for her observations on the Peruvian government and on the effectiveness of our aid program in South America, she stated that for two years following her separation from government service she may make no public statement without prior approval of the Department of State.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Many Americans are haunted today by the fear that Western Europe and Japan have found the secret of a fast economic growth rate that will soon leave the United States behind.

This specter, probably as big as the American worry over the loss of its gold to dollar-heeled foreigners, sits today at the conference table as the money managers of the non-Communist world convene in Washington for the annual meetings of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

The speedy industrial growth of the European Common Market since 1957—when the United States' postwar industrial expansion was beginning to slow down—has awed American businessmen and politicians alike. Some seek ways to protect American industry from growing competition and loss of markets; others prefer a joint effort with the Common Market to build up the non-Communist world against the repeated Soviet threats to overtake and surpass the present champions.

But at least one United States banking leader warns against jumping to conclusions about the greater vigor of Western Europe and Japan.

Frederick L. Deming, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, agrees with the administration that the U.S. economy needs to grow faster than it has in recent years.

But he cautioned: "The United States, and Canada also, have done better than some of the apostles of growth admit. The easy assumption that Western Europe and Japan have broken through to a new era in growth rates needs to be demonstrated over a longer period of time."

Other observers have reported signs that the industrial growth of West Germany and France and other Common Market nations is slowing after its impressive post-war spurt.

But Deming thinks the true picture isn't just what happened in wartime lands rebuilding (with U.S. aid) in the late 1940s and 1950s, but rather in long term growth. So he compares today's economies with those before World War II.

The Common Market's flashiest performance has been in industrial production. This has expanded mightily in the last few years when the U.S. growth rate was slowing.

But based on 1958 industrial production, the United States is still out in front in percentage of growth. Deming's figures show the U.S. gain as 253 per cent in the last 23 years. Italy is second with a 228 per cent spurt in industrial output, edging Canada's 227 per cent.

Japan's big spurt from 1948 to 1957 erased its wartime decline and puts it up 230 per cent for the 1938-61 period. France and The Netherlands each have a gain of 156 per cent and West Germany, thanks largely to its big 1948-57 recovery drive, shows a gain for the longer period of 145 per cent.

Deming's point is that there's no proof as yet that the Common Market can keep it up.

Looking at the longer record (instead of just the rebuilding from the ruins of war), Canada and the United States are still the champs.

American Lose at Both Tables

By OSWALD JACOBY

The fifth session of the World Championship match started with trouble for both American pairs.

When Italy sat North the opening bid was one heart. One club is an artificial bid in their system.

Our East made a rather unsound bid of two spades. He played it as strong, but not forcing, but he really wasn't strong enough. South passed and West went to three spades. He expected East to have a better hand and was inviting game. East passed and had South doubled we would have been hurt, but South passed. However, he did open a club and the best we could do was to go down three for minus 300.

Our North-South pair matched this minus. North opened one club; East overcalled one spade, South doubled, West ran to two hearts and North passed. If he had doubled we would have picked up at least 200 points. East passed and South tried two spades in case East had bid one of those Italian three-card suit over-calls.

North went to two no-trump. South might well have passed. North would probably have made his contract although perfect defense would beat him. However, South bid three diamonds. North might have passed also, but tried three no-trump. East doubled and South ran to four diamonds. That was doubled and set two tricks for a total loss of 600 points or 12 International Match points.

Alleged Alley Fight Injuries Are Fatal

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Clarence J. Toner, 38, of Plattsburgh, died in Sunmount Veterans Hospital Sunday of injuries suffered in an alleged fight with his brother-in-law.

The brother-in-law, Anthony Meconi, 53, of Ausable Forks, had been charged with second-degree assault in connection with the fight. No further charge was placed against him.

Meconi had been accused of striking Toner and knocking him down, then picking him up and throwing him to the ground again. The alleged fight occurred Sept. 8 in an alley in Ausable Forks.

Toner had been in a coma since the fight.

Meconi was arraigned Thursday on the assault charge and asked for an examination. He was released in $500 bail, pending a hearing Oct. 5.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—"Sam Benedict" will have to be fattened up considerably if NBC's new lawyer-series is to replace "Perry Mason" in the eyes and hearts of the Saturday night television audience.

Unhappily, Sam's rather pathetic skeleton was all too apparent on first sight this past weekend, in spite of frantic and obvious efforts to pad, divert and conceal.

Edmond O'Brien plays the San Francisco barrister breathlessly and turbulently, rushing around to handle crisis after crisis—getting a client acquitted of murder, collecting overdue rent and, in the main thread of plot, forestalling a blackmailing lawsuit.

It was in the principal story that the toothpick-thin plot was glaringly visible. Sam's good friend Mike died suddenly, and Mike's evil brother threatened to try to break the will in an attempt to get a bigger share.

"Show of the Week" bounced back strong Sunday night with an offbeat morality play, "The Outpost." A five-man cast of competent performers—the men at an observation outpost of some nameless country at war—underscored author Roger O. Hirson's point, that it is easier to face certain destruction than shame.

The colonel (Claude Rains) was a thief; the captain (Richard Conte) a martinet who had murdered the platoon into a quagmire; the lieutenant (Keir Dullea) a coward; the sergeant (Neville Brand) a murderer; and the private (Everett Sloane) a cuckold.

None was legally convicted, but their shame was known. So they all chose to remain in their outpost, ignoring the advance of the enemy, rather than return to their old lives.

It was interesting, intelligent and stimulating—a fine harbinger for the series' new NBC season.

Joey Bishop also returned to NBC—on Saturday night. This season he is more poised, more famous, and a successful established night club comedian. He also has picked up a wife on the show.

"It's a Man's World," premiere, NBC, 7:30-8:30 (EDT)—new series about four boys in a houseboat; "Saints and Sinners," premiere, NBC, 8:30-9:30—Nick Adams stars as a reporter in a new newspaper dramatic series; "Stump the Stars," CBS, 10:30-11—Pantomime Quiz in thin disguise with Pat Harrington Jr. as charades master.

Returning shows: "I've Got a Secret," CBS, 8-8:30—Garry Moore and his group of panelists in a new time period; "The Price is Right," NBC, 9:30-10—Bill Cullen and the game at a new time.

News special—"America's Cup Race," NBC, 10-11—documentary treatment of the international yacht race.

It Was Hard But Wife Kept Flink Secret as Counterspy

NEW YORK (AP)—"You don't know how hard it is for a woman to keep a secret for three years," says a young wife who knew her husband was feeding government information to the Russians while working as an FBI counterspy.

"I'm proud of the job he did," Lois Flink told newsmen Sunday.

Then, with a sigh of relief, "and I'm very glad it's over."

Mrs. Flink, 24, said that when her husband-to-be, Richard A. Flink, 27, disclosed his undercover role shortly before their marriage in June 1960, she was "very nervous at first."

Agreed to Go Along

But, she said, "he explained the whole thing to me and I agreed to go along with it."

Flink, a Republican candidate for New York State assemblyman, said he was partly motivated in his undercover work by his hatred of Soviet anti-Semitism.

The Justice Department disclosed Flink's undercover adventure Saturday night.

Flink, a Queens, N.Y., lawyer-politician, posed as a Communist spy for a $3,000 payoff while keeping the FBI abreast of information he gave to two Soviet employees of the United Nations, the department said.

Will Ask Kennedy

Flink's Democratic opponent in the Nov. 6 elections said he was going to communicate with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy about the Justice Department report "to see if there is any more to it."

Flink, who never had held elective office, is running against Queens lawyer J. Lewis Fox, who is seeking re-election to the state assembly where he has served 14 years.

Fox, 52, said he was puzzled by some things in the department's report and was trying to figure out why Kennedy, a Democrat like himself, released it just at this time—two months before the election.

Something More, He Says

Fox told newsmen he could not understand what type information Flink could supply the Russians on the Republican party that the Russians couldn't have gotten from public records of the party.

"There's something more to it than appears on the surface," Fox said. "I don't know what it is."

Kennedy was understood to have put the story out now because (1) the case was cleaned up and (2) because he thought Flink was about to use it in his campaign.

Kennedy's announcement identified the two Soviet U.N. employees who contacted Flink as translator Yuri A. Mishukov, 31, and political affairs officer Yuri V. Zaitsev, 38, who have since returned to their country.

The Russians, the report said, asked Flink for information about internal operations of the United States government agencies and personal information about influential members of Flink's political party.

A Justice Department spokesman said the Russians also asked Flink to advocate "policies favorable to the Soviet Union" if he was elected to the state Assembly.

Flink told reporters that Mishukov first met him at a cocktail party in August 1959 while Flink was a law student at New York University.

The U.S. State Department informed the U.N. secretariat of the Russians' activities July 26. Mishukov, who returned to the Soviet Union 21 days before that, and Zaitsev, who left the United States on Aug. 7, subsequently were expelled from U.N. service.

Big Italian Liner

Slides Down Ways

GENOA, Italy (AP)—The 43,000-ton Michelangelo, the biggest Italian ocean liner built since World War II, slid down the ways in this north Italian port Sunday.

The Michelangelo, 825 feet long with accommodations for 1,850 passengers and a crew of 720, is scheduled for service on the North American run by the summer of 1964.

A sister ship, the Raffaello, is under construction in Trieste.

Dag Hammarskjöld Day

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Tuesday will be "Dag Hammarskjöld Day" in New York State, by proclamation of Gov. Rockefeller to honor the secretary general of the United Nations who was killed a year ago in a plane crash while in Africa on a peace mission.

Finance Heads To Talk About Dollar Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Financial leaders of 80 countries gathered here today to talk about the recuperating dollar—and the new problems that will arise when the dollar is restored to full health.

The forum for the discussion was the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund, a 17-year-old champion of stable currencies and world trade. This meeting, along with simultaneous sessions of the World Bank and affiliated organizations, will continue through Friday.

In the monetary realm, an increase in the strength of the dollar or any other currency is almost certain to mean that some other currency is weakening. With the dollar showing new strength, Western Europe is increasingly concerned about its own marks, guilders, francs and lire.

Per Jacobsson, managing director of the IMF, predicts the U.S. balance of payments deficit—the cause of dollar weakness in recent years—will be substantially eliminated by the end of 1963. The Kennedy administration is making the same forecast.

Some of the European finance ministers and central bankers attending the IMF meeting aren't so certain. But they are concerned about the fact that the increasing strength of the dollar already has weakened the position of several continental currencies.

As the U.S. payments deficit has declined, from $3.9 billion in 1960 to a current annual rate of

Mass. Voters Will Decide Clan Question Tuesday

BOSTON (AP)—Massachusetts voters decide Tuesday whether there are too many Kennedys in public life or if another of the clan should have a crack at high public office.

That seemed the overriding issue today as Edward M. Kennedy, 30, brother of President Kennedy, and Edward J. McCormack, 39, nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, climaxed a whirlwind campaign for a short-term U.S. Senate nomination.

At stake in November balloting is the remaining two years of the term Kennedy left behind to become president.

Two republicans will fight it out at the polling places for their party's nomination and the opportunity—if Kennedy should win his primary—to take the dynasty issue to the voters for a second round in the general election.

They are George C. Lodge, former assistant secretary of labor, and Rep. Laurence Curtis, 10-year member of Congress whose district was reapportioned out of existence.

Millions of words have been poured out by the candidates at street rallies, clambakes and on television about the issues of the campaign.

But the man on the street in Boston, Greenfield or Pittsfield seems considerably more interested.

$1.5 billion, the surpluses of West Germany, the Netherlands, and Switzerland have disappeared. The Italian surplus has been reduced.

ed in the question of whether Ted Kennedy should have a chance to join his president brother and his attorney general brother in holding major office in Washington.

The first go-around on this matter won't be decided entirely by Democrats. Young Kennedy demonstrated a way with the party organization by winning its state convention endorsement for the nomination.

But there are 1,200,000 registered independents in Massachusetts. Ordinarily they don't bother about primaries. But this time a substantial number of them seem to be steamed up by the Kennedy-McCormack contest. Independents outnumber the 900,000 registered Democrats and 600,000 Republicans.

President Kennedy will vote in Boston's West End. Speaker McCormack will cast his ballot in Dorchester. Both have kept publicly aloof from the campaign. But their influence obviously has been felt in behalf of their favorites.

The count down with the former regarded as somewhat of a favorite.

Lodge, bidding for his first elective office, went beyond personalities and state issues to strike out at President Kennedy's handling of international affairs.

Curtis, who is 69, banged away that the voters ought to "separate the men from the boys." In shots directed at Kennedy as well as at Lodge, he denounced "dynasty, immaturity and inexperience."

Lodge is the son and the great-grandson of U.S. senators.

Accomplishment Record to be Key To GOP Campaign

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Rockefeller administration keyed its re-election campaign today to a platform that promised to carry forward what it said was a record of "solid accomplishment."

The Republican platform, unveiled Sunday, was proposed for adoption by the GOP State Convention at Tuesday afternoon's session.

The 2,000-word document repeated the administration's widely publicized claims for restoring "fiscal integrity" to state government and revitalizing economic growth in New York.

It also set forth 31 campaign promises, including pledges to keep state fiscal affairs on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, continue substantial financial aid to schools and college students, press forward with highway construction and help provide more jobs for New York workers.

Among other things, the platform promised:

"Vigorous pursuit of the goal of equal opportunity for all our citizens regardless of race, creed, color or national origin."

"Support for broadened home rule powers for local government."

"Preserve fully the state's traditional concern for those in genuine need and prevent the granting of undeserved benefits."

"Strengthen the state's farm economy as an integral component of any successful program for economic growth."

"Expansion of park, wild life and outdoor recreation facilities" and protection and expansion of the state's forest preserve.

Pleasant Valley Home Fire Scare Prompts Request

In the wake of a fire scare at a Pleasant Valley home, Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said Saturday he will ask the National Board of Fire Underwriters to make chemical analysis of charred wood in the former Edward Laird residence.

Quinlan said an unidentified person telephoned the Pleasant Valley Fire Department Saturday night and reported fire in the former Laird residence. Early Wednesday morning, Pleasant Valley firemen were summoned to the property of Justice of the Peace John A. Reed, where fire destroyed a barn.

Firemen also extinguished a fire of undetermined origin at the Laird home early Wednesday.

Deputy sheriffs are continuing investigation of a telephone call received by Fire Chief George Cady, Pleasant Valley, asking him "Are you ready for a really big one?" The call was received by Cady after the Wednesday morning fires, authorities said.

Local Program Is Launched to Train Practical Nurses

Members and friends of the Practical Nurses of New York, Ulster County Division, attended the group's 12th annual dinner on September 13 at Jakes Restaurant. Guest speaker was Raphael Klein, director of adult education for Kingston Consolidated Schools.

In his address, Mr. Klein reviewed the circumstances leading to the formation of training classes for Practical Nurses in this area.

Kingston's training program for practical nurses has been in the making for the past six years, Mr. Klein said. Classes are conducted at Kingston High and Ontario Central High School under the Adult Education programs.

Out of 75 applications distributed during a preliminary meeting, 40 were returned from residents interested in the course. A pre-entry test was given at the New York State Employment office. This morning, 25 students began their studies. They will have six hours of classroom work for five months after which they will combine with an eight hour day in hospital work and practical training in the Kingston Hospital, Benedictine Hospital and Ulster County Infirmary. When they have completed a year's course in July, 1963, they will prepare for school examinations and state board examinations leading to licenses. Graduates will secure temporary permits within 30 days after training has been completed and must also pass State Board examinations before being issued a license by the State of New York.

Mrs. Lucie Baker gave the invocation before and Mrs. Dorothy Berger was mistress of ceremonies. Guest of honor was Mrs. Beatrice Manookian, past president of the Ulster County Division.

Members of the staff for the new practical nurses training program were also introduced; Mrs. Beverly Delano, Mrs. Shirley Fletcher and Mrs. Sylvia Starkman.

Mother of Reigning 'Miss America' Gets Roses From Children

NEW YORK (AP) — The card that came with the roses for Beverly Mayer read:

"To the woman who's really behind the throne. Love and kisses." Six names followed.

Ticked by the floral tribute, the mother of the new Miss America, Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, interpreted the signatures. There were Beth and Jim, the two Mayer youngsters back home in Sandusky, Ohio; Zookie (Carol Zook of Wichita, Kan.); Jacquelyn's roommate at Northwestern; Dinky, an aunt; Vickie, the family dog, and Margaret Luedtke, a friend.

The roses brightened the hotel room of Mrs. Mayer and her husband, Jack, spending a week here to recuperate from the Atlantic City pageant. But their daughter, installed in a hotel suite across town, is already caught up in the whirl of activities that go with being the nation's beauty queen. Her father commented wryly: "We see Jackie every day—for a short time, but we see her."

"They don't worry about her, though."

"All our four children are pretty self-sufficient," said Mayer. "They all started quite young with dancing lessons: the girls tap and ballet, the boys tap and acrobatics. They've always taken part in school functions. They've never been bashful. We haven't any shy violets in our family."

But the Mayers shy away from dispensing advice to other parents on child-rearing.

"We're not experts," said Mrs. Mayer with a laugh.

Her husband added: "We can't give advice because we haven't had any problems to cope with. Ours are good kids essentially. If they'd been problem children it might be different."

Said Mrs. Mayer: "We had one standing rule: The children had to go to Sunday School. We're Presbyterians, but I'm music director at the United Church of Christ and the kids come over there after Sunday School for choir and church. The kids have always been active in church. You know how it is in a small town (Sandusky's population is 35,000), you're either very active or not at all."

Her husband said he was reared in the Jewish faith, but he isn't particularly religious. "He has a deep faith of his own," said Mrs. Mayer. "He attends the big things at my church, at Easter and Christmas, so I reverse the compliment and sing high holidays at the temple."

Math Refresher Course at Vassar For Area Teachers

A mathematics refresher course for junior and senior high school teachers of mathematics will be offered this year at Vassar College, beginning the week of September 24. Twenty scholarships covering tuition and fees are available for Mathematics which is sponsored by the New York State Education Department. Dr. Winifred Asprey, Professor of Mathematics at Vassar, will be the instructor.

The course will be taught on the graduate level to experienced teachers, with emphasis on modern mathematics and its relationship to the secondary school curriculum. It will emphasize the sequential nature of mathematics—natural numbers, linear vector spaces, matrices, elementary functions—through an axiomatic approach.

The program will carry six points of academic credit which may be transferred on request to other institutions and may also be used for in-service credit.

The orientation and organization meeting for Mathematics AY404lab will be held at 10 a. m. on Saturday, September 22, in Room 26 of Rockefeller Hall on the Vassar campus. The class will meet three hours a week, with details as to hours and dates to be arranged at the meeting to suit the desires of the majority of students. No application need be made prior to the meeting. However, specific inquiries may be made to Miss Asprey at Vassar College.

"Mathematics is in such a period of revolution and change," Miss Asprey pointed out, "that teachers need constant and up-to-date information. A mathematics teacher today must not only grasp material well beyond the level at which he teaches but must also be able to study fields of mathematics not in existence at the time his formal training ceased. To teach young people to think and to discover requires concrete background and a sense of the structure of mathematics."

Dutchess DA Is Recommended for GOP Nomination

District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta, Dutchess County, was one of three persons the Columbia Republican League recommended for the Republican nomination for state comptroller, according to two officers of the league.

John Lamula, New York City, the league's executive director, and Frank P. Tufaro, Scarsdale, league president, told a Dutchess County Republican committee dinner group Saturday night at Poughkeepsie, that Baratta and John P. Lorenzo, who resigned as Monroe County judge Saturday to seek the comptroller nomination, have been recommended by the league.

The third candidate being considered for the nomination is Severio Flemma, a Utica attorney. Lamula said Baratta is "highly regarded" and he definitely has a chance for the nomination.

Sport Club Booters Defeat Troy, 3-1, in League Match

Tri-State Stock Car Title Won By Stone at Arlington

Ben Stone of Cornwall, Conn., copped the first annual Tri State stock car championship at Arlington Speedway Friday night. The victory was the first for Stone, who competed in all of the Mutual Racing Association race programs, 36 in all, at both the Rhinebeck and Arlington tracks.

Harry Brazee of Highland was the leader in the first five laps, yielding to John Rohan of Hyde Park, who led until the 28th lap when Pete Keator of Kerhonkson zoomed to the front.

The red flag came up when Keator banked off a lapped car and struck John Van Leuvan's car. Van Leuvan flipped several times in a sensational crash and landed in the first turn with Bud Glass of Hurley charging heading into the melee. The race was halted and Van Leuvan emerged unscathed.

Rohan took a lap loss for repairs to his car on the half and found himself in the same lap with the leaders on the re-start. Stone then slipped past Rohan and won going away trailed by Rohan, Billy Boo, Ron Kidd, Harry Brazee, Gordon Cavanagh, Ray Anderson, Pete Keator, Bill Rothberg and John Alf.

Morris Wheatley of Fishkill copped the sedan feature and the Arlington Sedan championship. Bob Harkins and Tim Lounsbury followed.

Accord Feature To Pete Keator

Pete Keator, who ran strong race at Arlington Speedway Friday night, grabbed the lead on the 20th lap and came home first in the 25-lap stock car feature Sunday at Accord Speedway. Harry North, driving the wheel of Jed Barringer's No. 31 overhauled Erice Cyr, the early leader on the 15th lap and held it until the 15th when he developed mechanical difficulties. John Dill then took over and stayed in front until Keator's late surge. Floyd Rose grabbed the runner-up spot and Harold Montanye was third.

Results by heats: First heat—L. Bruce Cyr; 2. Skip Waterfall; 3. Carl Lane; Second heat—L. Harry North; 2. Harold Montanye; 3. Floyd Rose; third heat—L. Floyd Rose; 2. John Dill; 3. Don Smith; consolation—L. Dick Becker; 2. Walt Chavous; 3. Warren Nissen; feature—Keator, Rose, Montanye.

Giants Is Dead, Or So It Seems

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The San Francisco Giants remain in the National League pennant race mathematically, but it may take an Einstein to win it for them.

With 12 games left on the schedule, the Giants stand four games behind league-leading Los Angeles. Even if the Dodgers only split their 12 games, the Giants would have to win 10 for a first-place tie. And the way Al Dark's team has been floundering along, that type of streak is unlikely.

Following the Giants' fifth straight loss Sunday, 6-4 in 10 innings, Dark and his Giants sat dejectedly in the locker room. They haven't won since leaving home last Tuesday and are one game away from their longest losing streak of the season, completed early in June.

"They're all big losses," Dark mumbled when asked about the defeat in light of the Dodgers' more. 5-0 loss to Chicago. He said no Willie Mays, who returned to the lineup for the first time since collapsing in the dugout in Cincinnati last Wednesday, didn't have much to say either, even though his three-run home run tied the contest 4-4 in the eighth inning. "I felt weak," the amazing Mays said about his physical condition. "If we'd won, the home run would have felt better."

Tally 2 Goals In Second Half

After being held to a 1-1 tie at halftime, the Kingston Sports Club pushed across a pair of goals in the second half and beat Troy, 3-1, in a Central New York State Soccer League game yesterday at the upstate field.

Engin Ventriglia tallied for the locals in the first half but this was offset by a Troy goal. Alex Dirks tallied early in the second half to put the league's defending champions ahead for good. Al DiBella clinched matters with another into the net at the 62 minute mark.

Reserves again played a key role in the triumph as several of the starters were out with injuries. Lee Roberts, Soccer Coach at Ellenville High and a former star while in college, made his debut with the Sports Club.

The lineup for Kingston included Schultz, Bruckner, N. Alexander, T. Alexander, Luzzi, Roberts, Schwabel, Vizvary, Ventriglia, Wolf, DiBella, Dirks and Schlichting.

In other circuit games, Albany Athletic Club beat Albany Sports Club, 6-4; Poughkeepsie Blue and White topped Troy Sports Club, 3-2; Albany Sons of Italy and Endicott played to a 2-2 tie and Schenectady Football Club whipped Utica, 4-1.

Kingston will meet Utica Sunday at Oehler's Field. A meeting of the team is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. on Wednesday after the 6 o'clock practice session.

Packers Lifted By Paul Hornung

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers' Paul Hornung qualifies as a seasoned trouper. He lets the boys have their fun in dress rehearsals, then he takes charge.

The 27-year-old halfback whose work was overshadowed in six straight exhibition victories went on a 28-point scoring spree Sunday as the Packers launched defense of their National Football League championship by burying the Minnesota Vikings 34-7.

Cheered on by a packed crowd of 38,669, Hornung personally wrecked the Vikings with touchdown runs of 37, 7 and 5 yards, a pair of field goals from 45 and 10 yards out and four conversions.

The "golden boy," who won the Heisman Trophy as a senior at Notre Dame in 1956, proved conclusively that he merely was trying to regain his form during mediocre performances in the tanning season.

Patterson Hits 212

George Howard Averages 231 In 10-Game Exhibition Here

"These lanes run so nice you have to be on guard against relaxing too much," said George Howard, a Detroit bowling dynamo who at the time was assaulting lanes 23 and 24 at Ferraro's Bowlerama Saturday night.

Howard, the current Michigan State All-Events champion, AMF ambassador, and Professional Bowlers Association winner, obviously wasn't lulled too much by the superb conditions. He hammered out a sensational 231 average for 10 games, as he and Pat Patterson of St. Louis won four sets of doubles against top-notch local opposition.

A 32-year-old, 5 foot 8 power-house, Howard had a 234 average at the end of 9 games, then dipped to his low for the night with 200. Along the way he powered solos of 205, 277, 224, 220, 235, 214, 265, 215, 250 and 200.

Patterson, a member of Don Carter's Gloves of St. Louis, current ABC champions and a former All-ABC choice, averaged 212 with high solos of 259, 225 and 222.

Terrific Exhibition

Between them, Howard and Patterson staged one of the finest bowling exhibitions ever witnessed on local lanes. Patterson, a solidly knit 6 foot, 200 pounder, demonstrated a powerful strike ball. Howard, who looks more like a jockey than a bowler, captivated the audience with flawless form and a strike ball that either pin pointed the 1-3 pocket or, breaking wide and late, sent the pins cascading off the left kickback. His ready wit, wry comments and pantomime which complemented his flawless precision on the runways, furnished a delightful change of pace for the large crowd of spectators. Clean cut, highly personable, Patterson and Howard make up an impressive touring team.

The touring stars had their only real scare in the final 2-game set when Chris Gallo rolled 450 and Jack Ferraro 430 to lose by seven pins.

Rolls 277 Game

Howard slammed his biggest game (277) in the first set when he teamed with Hilda Murphy to beat Patterson and Rose Schatzel, 785 to 753.

In the men's doubles competition, Howard and Patterson racked up a big 919 to trounce Kildy Corrado and Larry Petersen, Jr. Howard had 444 for the two games and Patterson his double for the night, 259-217-476.

Other victories were scored over Bob Shlightner and George Shufeldt, 815 to 709; over Charlie Manfro and Chick Carpino, 902-806. In the final set, the pros won the first game, 483-445, against Ferraro and Gallo, but the locals rallied to take the

Conley Hurls Sox Over Yanks

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Gene Conley is a big, baby-faced guy who is the only major two-sport professional now performing.

He is the property of the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association. This is a recent change. And he is no longer "owned" by the New York Yankees, also a recent change.

The Yanks had beaten the 6-foot-8 Boston right-hander seven times in as many tries over the last two seasons when they took the field in Boston Sunday.

Conley promptly pitched and batted the Red Sox to a 4-3 triumph over the defending world champions, lopping a full game off the Yanks still comfortable American League lead.

Minnesota closed to within three games on the strength of a 4-3 decision over Cleveland, with ace right-hander Camilo Pascual the key figure. Pascual picked up his 19th triumph and drove in the winning run with his third hit of the game.

New York and Minnesota each have 10 games left to play.

The third-place Los Angeles Angels were all but eliminated from the race by Detroit. The Tigers came up with a 4-2 verdict, dropping the Angels 3½ games back of Minnesota, 6½ behind the Yankees.

Kansas City bombed Baltimore 12-5 and Chicago beat Washington 7-4 in the others.

Conley, who combines his baseball career with a winter job in professional basketball, was acquired by the New York NBA team in a trade last week.

Decisive Hit

A Conley single, leading off the eighth, led to the decisive run. He moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Lu Clinton's single.

Whitey Ford (16-8) was charged with the loss.

Pascual struck out 12, lifting his league-leading total to 191, while keeping the Twins in the race with their fourth straight victory. He drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie with a single in the eighth.

Harmon Killebrew's 40th home run with the bases empty in the seventh, pulled the Twins into the tie.

Los Angeles' loss to Detroit was their fifth straight. Pitcher Phil Regan's decisive two-run double in a three-run fifth inning gave the Tigers a 4-0 lead and pinned the loss on Ken McBride (11-5).

Kansas City jammed in six runs in the fifth inning and went on to an easy triumph over Baltimore, despite a home run and three other hits by the Orioles' Brooks Robinson.

Chicago rallied for four runs in the sixth in beating Washington. Ray Herbert allowed 11 hits and 4 walks, but picked up his 17th victory against 9 losses.

Star Guinea Wins Monticello Race

MONTICELLO — Star Guinea made every pole a winning one and captured the $7,500 Monticello Raceway three-year-old pacing championship in a new lifetime record of 2:04 3/5 to feature Saturday's racing at the Mighty M before 8,089 fans.

Dave Howard moved the bay filly by George Direct-Highland Gold to top at a 30-second quarter and Star Guinea went on to post a length and one-half win over favorite Don Roberto. Third was Miss Lee Scott. Star Guinea knocked a tick off her career mark in winning her eighth start in 22 races. She now banked $10,344 for her owners H. A. Keaton and M. F. Graney. Star Guinea paid 10-30 to win. The $5,000 Invitational Handicap pace was annexed by Adios Ronnie in 2:02 2/5. Vernon Dancer drove the four-year-old son of Adios-Rena Grattan to a three quarters length win over Alfred Hanover. Third was Shadydale Missile. Lieut. Mike carried the field to a blistering 28 3/5 quarter and a 1:00 4/5 half before giving way to Ronnie at the three quarters in 1:32 1/5. The win was the 15th in 19 races for the Clarence Alies' Flyer and boosted his earnings to $20,516. Adios Ronnie returned 8-20 to win.

Mays Back But Giants Bow Again

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Willie Mays did his best and the Chicago Cubs slowed down Los Angeles' pennant express but still the San Francisco Giants couldn't win for losing.

With two weeks to go, the Giants' situation is indeed desperate. They trail the Dodgers by four games with 12 to play after losing their fifth straight Sunday, 6-4 to Pittsburgh in 10 innings.

Smoky Burgess' two-run homer in the 10th did the Giants in after Mays, returning to the lineup for the first time since he collapsed on the bench Wednesday, had tied the score with a three-run homer in the eighth. It was Willie's 44th of the year.

The Dodgers' seven-game winning streak was broken by the Cubs, whose Bob Buhl allowed only four hits in a 5-0 victory.

Nelson Mathews, a 21-year-old rookie who came up from the Wenatchee, Wash., farm last week, hit a grand slam homer, his first major league home run, off Stan Williams in the first inning.

The New York Mets knocked out Joey Jay, Cincinnati's 21-game winner, and beat the Reds 8-2 with Marvelous Marv Throneberry showing the way. The Reds remained six games behind the Dodgers with only 10 to go.

Art Mahaffey won his 19th game as the Phillies continued to plague the St. Louis Cardinals, beating Bob Gibson 3-1. The Cards defeat, combined with Milwaukee's 5-4 victory over Houston, left the two clubs tied for fifth place.

Cards Are Key
Los Angeles and San Francisco each have six at home and six away. St. Louis could be the key, if any is needed, at this stage.

The Dodgers play the Cardinals six times and the Giants play the Cards five times.

The Cubs broke out of a 10-game losing slump while delaying the Dodgers' pennant rush. They also stopped Maury Wills who didn't steal a base and was thrown out for the 12th time in 104 attempts. He has stolen 92 bases, four short of Ty Cobb's record of 96 in 1915.

Throneberry drove in three runs and hit his 16th homer for the Mets as Roger Craig, a 23-game loser, won his ninth, and Jay, a 21-game winner, lost his 13th.

Weather Gentle After Tornado in Minnesota Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weather showed its gentle side today, after a tornado ripped like a buzzsaw Sunday through Rochester, Minn.

Mild rains washed many parts of the southeast and central portions of the nation, while 70-degree weather stretched from North Carolina in a belt nearly across the continent to California. The twister in Rochester reduced to wreckage a quarter-mile path, 100 feet wide, through the southeastern Minnesota city.

Thirteen persons were injured. Four were still hospitalized today. Nine homes were wrecked and the Red Cross estimated damage at $300,000.

Most of the residents were asleep when it struck.

Weather Picture Up Till Saturday

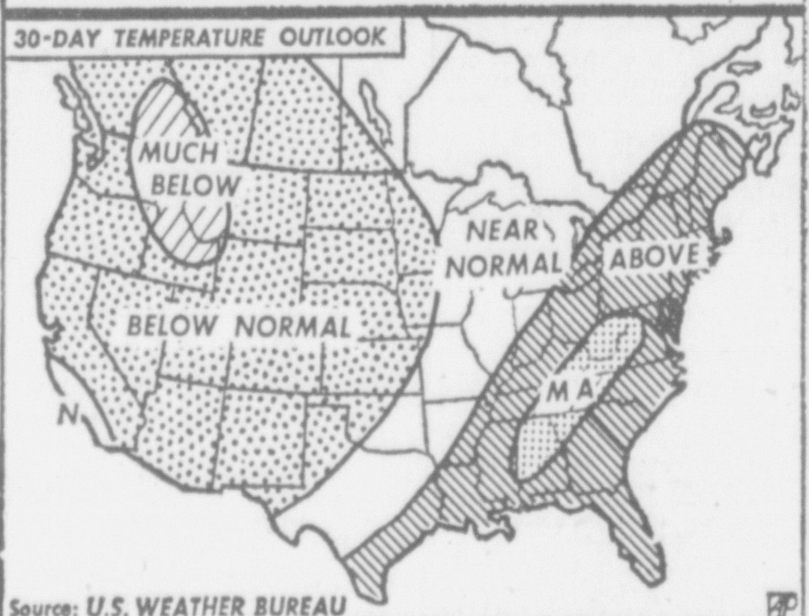

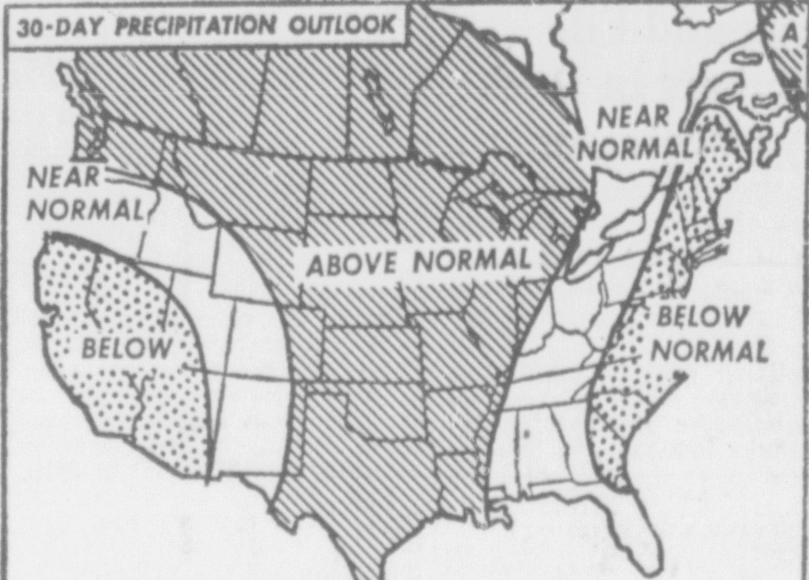

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Saturday: Eastern New York — Cool weather most of week with warming trend after Wednesday. Temperatures will average 3-5 degrees below normal. Some showers likely near end of week, probably late Thursday or Friday. Total average rainfall 1/2 inch or more.

Western New York — Temperatures will average 3-5 degrees below normal. Only minor day-to-day changes expected but low expected early in week, followed by slow warming trend end of week. Precipitation will average 3-10 to 4-10 inch as showers about mid-week and again at end of week. Temperature normals — Daytime highs, 68-73. Nighttime lows, 47-55.

Suffocation Given As Cause of Death

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Post-autopsy tests have revealed that Pamela Moss, 14-year-old victim of a rape-slayer, died of suffocation, authorities say.

The girl's body was found floating in a water-filled quarry Sept. 8, two days after she disappeared from her home in nearby Penfield. An autopsy disclosed she had been raped, police said, but did not reveal the cause of death. Results of later tests at the State Police laboratory in Albany were reported Saturday by Monroe County Dist. Atty. John Conway Jr. Meanwhile, police appeared to be still without a sizeable lead to her killer, or knowledge of just how she died.

Wassaic Inmate's Plunge to Death Called Escape Try

Dr. Charles A. Angelo, assistant director of Wassaic State School said Saturday night that Howard Winkler, 18-year-old inmate, was killed accidentally when he plunged 60 feet from a fourth floor window at the institution.

Dr. Angelo said Winkler crawled through a 15-inch opening in a window about three feet off the floor and plunged to his death. Dr. Angelo said Winkler apparently wanted to get away. He noted the youth was a patient of low mental intelligence and did not possess the mental ability to premeditate suicide.

Dr. E. Alan Larkin, an assistant Dutchess County examiner, previously was reported to have ruled the youth's death a suicide, pending a formal inquest.

Janet Leigh Is Mrs. Brandt Now

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Actress Janet Leigh is Mrs. Bob Brandt today after a wedding announcement, a divorce, two plane trips and a marriage ceremony. Miss Leigh, who divorced her husband, actor Tony Curtis, last August, was wed to Brandt here Saturday. He's a wealthy stockbroker-sportsman and husband No. 4 for the shapely actress.

The couple announced their wedding plans last Thursday. She flew to Juarez, Mexico, for a quickie divorce Friday, returned to Hollywood, then flew here to wed Brandt on Saturday.

Miss Leigh, 34, won her interlocutory divorce decree from Curtis last July 11, but California divorces don't become valid for 12 months. There is no waiting period in Mexico.

Driver Hits Gas Pump On Rt. 28, Pays Fine

A Newark, N. J., man apparently lost control of his car Sunday afternoon and ran through John Baker's gasoline station on Route 28 near Stony Hollow hitting the gas pump, according to Kingston state police. He was reported uninjured.

Max Nurmberger, 40, of 225 Meeker Avenue, Newark, N. J., issued a summons by Trooper Norman Kilfoyle, paid a $10 fine for changing lanes unsafely, when he appeared before Town of Woodstock Justice of the Peace Rudolph C. Baumgarten.

Trooper Kilfoyle reported Nurmberger was proceeding east on Route 28 at about 1:30 p. m. when he attempted to turn into Baker's gas station on the left side of the highway. He applied his brakes and swerved into the gas pump, state police said.

Sun baths are fine for your baby, but keep his face turned away from the sun. The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness advises. This blocks the direct sun rays that could injure his eyes.
